We went to Whenua Iti on Tuesday and Wednesday. We took a drink bottle and our lunch and we got there by van. We did all sorts of activities. We did the flying rat and you had to get strapped into a harness and a helmet and people pulled you up and down again. We did the trapeze and you hold onto the bar and you let go. You are also strapped to a harness and a helmet as well. The island activity four people stand on each island and you are to get to the other island by holding a rope to get across it. I followed the instructions and I listened to the instructions on how to do it.

Everything was safe. We all had to trust each other. I wasn't scared of anything. And I was frightened of the high rope just a little. I was co-operative in every thing. I was proud of myself and I gave it a good shot. I was impressed with everything. I supported everyone who tried and did the activities. We put sun block to keep ourselves sun safe. I kept my balance on the high ropes. I did a great team effort. I helped people who needed help. I wasn't scared of heights. I really liked Whenua Iti and I hope we get to go to Whenua Iti next year.

Day1- At Whenua Iti we went by van to get there. When we got there it was so hot but we had no sun block or no sunhats and they loaned us some. I am scared of heights but I gave it my best shot and my team kept me safe.

Day2- At Whenua Iti it was a hot day but we had sun block and a sunhat. We did the high wires and we did the trapeze but all the girls gave it their best shot. We had to do heaps of listening to keep the team safe on the high wires and I had one important job and it was belaying one of the girls when she went up on the high wires. She had to walk along same planks up on the high wires and along the log.
